

HOW SANTA MET MRS. CLAUS

Once upon a wintery night, Santa Claus was flying his sleigh with delight, delivering presents to all the good girls and boys, Spreading joy and love with his sack full of toys.

As he flew across the snowy ground, He heard a sound that made him turn around, He saw a woman with rosy cheeks, she looked cold and lost, without any speaks.

Santa landed his sleigh with a jingle and a clatter, and approached the woman to see what was the matter, "Are you lost, my dear?" Santa asked with a smile, "I am Jennifer," she replied, "and I've been searching for a while."

Santa's heart skipped a beat, and he felt a little shy, for he had never seen a woman as pretty as this one nearby, He invited her onto his sleigh, and together they flew, Talking and laughing as they enjoyed the view.

As they landed at the North Pole, they became good friends, sharing stories and cookies until the night's end, They talked about their love for Christmas and all things sweet, And before they knew it, they were dancing to the beat.

That night, Santa knew that he had found his match, Mrs. Claus was the one, he felt it with every catch, He proposed to her on the spot, with a twinkle in his eye, And Mrs. Claus said yes, with a smile as bright as the sky.

From that day on, they worked together to make Christmas grand, spreading joy and love across the land, and even though they were different in every way, Their love for each other grew stronger every single day.

So now when you see Santa and Mrs. Claus together, remember that they met in a wintery weather, and that love can happen when you least expect it to, Just like it did for Santa and Mrs. Claus, too.
